Rosé and summer may go hand in hand, but don't let this warm weather favorite fool you: Well-made rosé is meant to be enjoyed year-round. Lazy summer beach days, crisp autumn nights and sunny spring afternoons call for a glass of the pink, but with countless varietals and eye-catching bottles being released each year, it's hard to know which ones to buy.

That's why we did the hard part for you and narrowed down the list to 35+ very quaffable rosé wines and rosé Champagnes. Get ready to break out the ice bucket and toast to #roséallday season (which is every season in our opinion), because if there's one thing you want to sip somewhere living your best life, it's rosé.

Viña Vik La Piu Belle Rosé

Viña Vik

Viña Vik La Piu Belle Rosé ($25): Name a prettier rosé bottle...we'll wait. This limited-edition, Cab Sauvignon-Cab Franc-Syrah blend hails from Millahue, Chile (from the Vik Retreats family) and reminds us of summer stone fruit with a surprising hint of citrus on the finish.
