

COSMOPOLITAN

15 Vacation Ideas for Couples Who Need a Romantic Lil Getaway

♪♪ "Grab your passport and my hand." ♪♪

I'm a firm believer that there's no greater way to strengthen your relationship with your partner than by traveling the world with them. Sure, it sounds a little cheesy, but experiencing new places helps you grow as an individual and as a pair—and if you can love each other through long-haul flights and jetlag, you can love each other through anything. IYKYK.

So, let me be the first to say that you and your boo should go ahead and take that PTO. You deserve a lil trip. And lucky for you, I rounded up 15 of the best vacation ideas for couples, below. These are all one-of-a-kind hotels that will make the perfect home base for a romantic getaway, with picks from every corner of the world.

Vik Chile

Calling all oenophiles, this one's for you! Sure, you could go to Napa and do some tastings, but wouldn't it be cooler to tell people you went to Chilean wine country and tried some of the best Cabernet Sauvignons and Sauvignon Blancs in the world? Vik Chile is where you'll want to stay when you're there—located at the top of a hill and surrounded by mountains and 13,000 acres of vineyards. There are only 29 rooms on the property, so it definitely feels exclusive, but the common areas leave plenty of space for guests to hang out and get to know each other. (The infinity pool! The wine cellar! The game room! Oh my!) You can tour your way through the winery by foot, but you also go through the vineyards by horseback, which, let's be real, is way more romantic.

